- Lead the Experience Team within the Exhibitions & Heritage department.
- Manage complex exhibition projects with multiple internal and external relationships (matrix organisation) to tight budgets, fixed deadlines and full satisfaction of different stakeholders.
- Devise creative solutions for the responsible display of the collection.
- Oversee implementation and check delivered quality of the Experience Team, project teams, partners and subcontractors.
- Commission and manage outside agencies and creative partners.
- Work collaboratively and efficiently with key internal departments including Education, Collections, Technical, Commercial and Communications as well as outside contractors.
- Assist with copywriting and content research.

Our requirements

- A university degree in museum studies, design/scenography, project management, or equivalent degree/experience required.
- Three to five years proven experience and success in concept development/ project management in a museum or related environment is required. Experience in exhibition planning and implementation preferred.
- Three to five years' team leadership experience, excellent organization skills.
- Hands-on experience in creative processes, concept, graphic design, scenography and production is required.
- Extensive knowledge in the field of football history, football culture and FIFA.
- Language skills required: English (fluent in speaking and writing) and German (fluent in speaking and writing). Knowledge of an additional FIFA language would be advantageous (Spanish or French).

You can look forward to a varied position in a lively environment. Don't miss this opportunity to contribute to the success of the FIFA World Football Museum.
